

RUSS FLEET WRECK TWO TURK PORTS

CRIPPLING OF COALING BASES CONSTITUTES A SERIOUS BLOW TO TURKISH SQUAD.

GERMANS WITHDRAW

Petrograd and London Report That German Forces Are Retiring Toward East Prussian Boundary.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Petrograd, March 9.—The bombardment of the Russians at Zunguldiak, on the south shore of the Black sea, and the destruction of the docks there, as announced by the Russian naval authorities yesterday, constitute a serious blow to the Turkish fleet, since it is from this port that the Turks hitherto have drawn their supplies of coal for the navy. It is reported semi-officially that in addition to silencing the batteries which defended the docks, the Russians also destroyed the coal chutes.

Benderly, forty miles to the west, which is one of the coaling ports, also was damaged. The only damage to the Russian fleet during the bombardment of Zunguldiak was a slight injury to the cruiser Almaz, which was struck by a six-inch shell. Three soldiers were wounded, but the cruiser and machinery were not damaged.

New Turkish Movement.

With the evident intention of distracting the Russian advance into Turkish Armenia from Batum to the north, the Turkish fleet has started a movement in the vicinity of Kioi, in northwestern Persia, to west of Tabriz. The Russian authorities attach little importance to this move, believing the melting snows and swollen rivers of this region will impede the progress of the Turks and preclude the possibilities of turning the left flank of the Russian Caucasian army.

Efforts to dislodge the right flank of the German forces operating in the Sunkli district of northern Poland apparently are bringing some success, and only the German center in the region of the river of the Pomerania is in possession of the position.

Germany's retreat from the front say, has retired thirty miles from Grodnow toward Augustow, through forests.

Retreat of the German right wing, which is now within eight miles of the frontier, is regarded as especially damaging to the Germans.

Germans Retiring.

London, March 9.—Ostinate fighting marks the battle along the eastern front of the continent with the Germans slowly withdrawing from the river Niemen in the direction of their own East Prussian frontier. At the same time the new offensive movement against Warsaw and on the Vistula evidently has not as yet developed into the great engagement which has been expected in this locality.

In the western arena of hostilities the allied attack on Ostend, in the Champagne region where the French have lately assumed the offensive, a snowstorm has given a forced rest to the troops.

Judging from the statement made yesterday by the British admiralty it is apparent that only one merchantman, the collier Bengrove, has fallen victim to the submarine blockade of the Germans since the 25th of February.

Press comment appearing in Berlin indicates a feeling of optimism over the new eastern situation. The Turkish campaign in the Dardanelles is impregnable is being endorsed and papers express the belief that King Constantine will hold Greece to a course of neutrality.

Reports British Defeat.

Amsterdam, March 9.—An official statement from the Turkish war ministry received here today from Constantinople says:

"Three battalions of British infantry with quick firing field guns, two mountain guns and one machine gun section and one squadron of cavalry attempted on March 3 to attack our positions in the region of Ahwaz, in Khuzistan. After a counter attack by our troops the British fled in disorder to their ships leaving 400 dead or wounded. Among the dead were one British major and four other officers. We captured 3 guns, 500 rifles, 2000 rounds and a great quantity of Red Cross material. Our losses were insignificant."

Consents to Form New Greek Cabinet

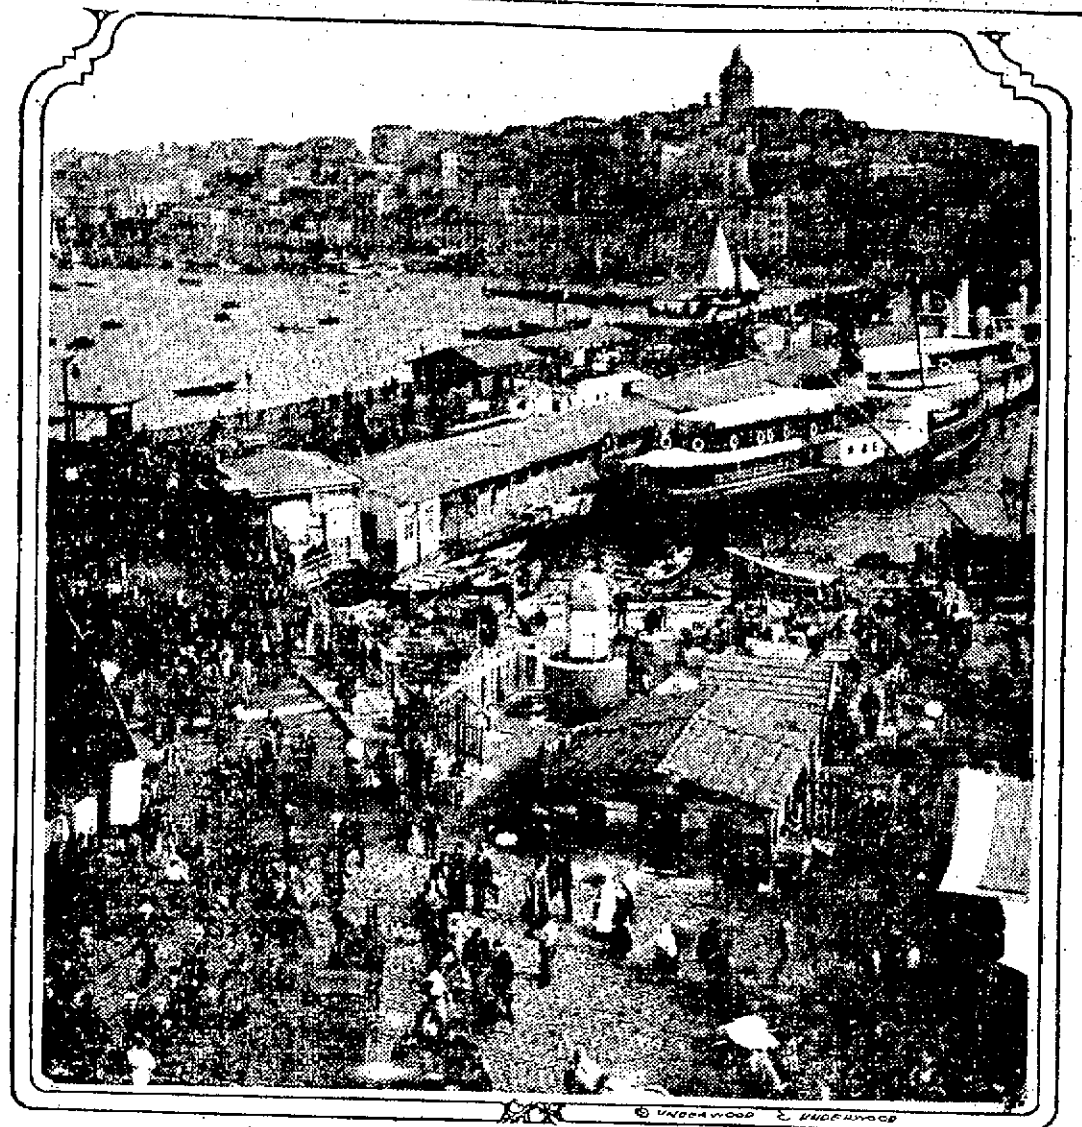

Deputy for Patras Assumes Task of Organizing Ministry Which Will Favor Neutrality.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Athens, via Paris, March 9.—M. Gounaris, deputy for Patras, has consented at the request of King Constantine to undertake the task of forming a new cabinet. It is reported that M. Baltasjis, who was foreign minister in the Ploki cabinet, has consented to take that portfolio under the leadership of M. Gounaris.

M. Gounaris will submit his list of ministers to the king tomorrow, it is understood, and obtain an agreement that the chamber shall be dissolved if the supporters of the ministry are in the minority, which is considered highly probable. The new premier is expected to favor the continued neutrality of Greece.

CONSTANTINOPLE IS ALLIES' GOAL; MAY BECOME RUSSIAN-TOWN

View of Constantinople. Galata bridge, over the Bosphorus, in foreground.

The French and English fleets which have been seeking to force a passage through the Dardanelles have Constantinople as their goal. The city has hitherto been regarded as almost impregnable. Its capture probably would end Turkey's effective participation in the war. If the allies are successful in the present war it is agreed that the city will become a part of Russia.

War News Summary

Both the right and left wings of the German forces in northern Poland have been dislodged, Petrograd dispatches state, from the positions they took on the advance from East Prussia. The German right wing is said to have beaten a hasty retreat within eight miles of the border. Today's official dispatches from Berlin state that the Russian offensive is being met successfully. Several Russian assaults in this region are said to have been repulsed.

Champaign attacks have become less violent. Snow has interfered with fighting in the Vosges and elsewhere along the western front there is no great activity.

A further advance by the Russian army which is striking into Turkish Armenia along the shore of the Black sea, is announced at Petrograd.

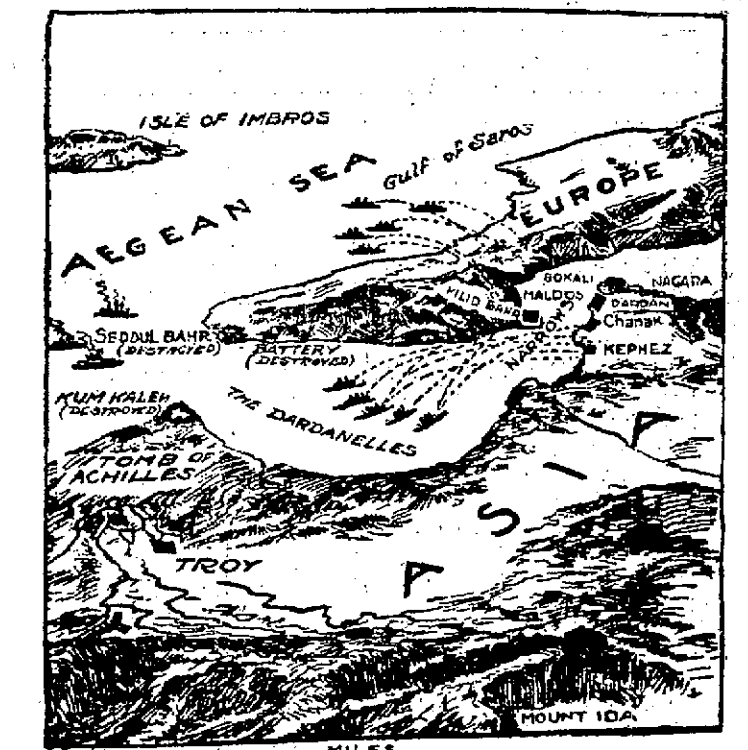

Although there is no direct evidence that Italy will depart from her policy of armed neutrality, the Rome dispatches express the belief that the nation is on the eve of "great and decisive events."

FIFTEEN STEAMERS SUBMARINE VICTIMS

British Suffer Heavy Losses on Sea in Six Weeks, According to Admiralty Report.

London, March 9.—Fifteen British steamers sunk out of a total of 8,734 vessels of more than 400 tons which arrived at British ports or departed from them from Jan. 24 to March 3, was a record achievement of German submarines, according to figures issued by the admiralty. Vessels of all nationalities are taken into account, excluding, however, those used by the admiralty for naval and military purposes. Twenty-nine members of the crew of steamers torpedoed lost their lives.

ROUMANIAN SENATE TAKES WAR ACTION

Has Adopted Bill Empowering Government to Declare Martial Law if Deemed Expedient.

SWITCHMAN IS CHARGED WITH ENTERING GAR FOR STEALING MERCHANDISE

Peter Carmier, who resides at 120 North High street, was arraigned before Judge H. L. Maxfield in the municipal court late this afternoon on the charge of breaking into a Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul freight car for the purpose of stealing merchandise. The offense is alleged to have been committed last night at the St. Paul yards and Carmier, it is said, was caught in the act of breaking the seal and entering the car.

Carmier is a switchman working for the Milwaukee road. When brought before court he asked for a preliminary examination, which was set for Thursday morning at ten o'clock. In default of five hundred dollars bail the prisoner was committed to the county jail.

Replevin Case: Judge Maxfield decided in favor of Orville Worrick in his action for replevin against Robert Sutton, for the recovery of a horse valued at $120, in the municipal court this morning. Testimony was taken that Worrick sold the horse to Sutton on the agreement that bankable paper be given for payment. A note given Worrick by Sutton was refused by Beloit bankers, and this led to the replevin action.

ITALIAN MINISTERS EXPECTED TO TAKE IMPORTANT ACTION

Italy's Course in European Upheaval Depends on Outcome of Session, is Widespread Belief.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Rome, March 9.—Premier Salandra, after his visit Sunday to Gaeta, to inaugurate a new military harbor, is expected to speak at the opening of the Italian parliament today. A degree of national feeling was manifested, had a long interview with the council of ministers today. Tonight the council of ministers was in session. These facts together with other indications lead to the widespread belief that Italy is today upon the eve of great and decisive events.

One of the premier's remarks at Gaeta is attracting considerable attention. Referring to the kind of brown bread allowed in Italy after March 23, Salandra said: "This is a noble bread. Our soldiers will be the first to be sacrificed and Italians will see the destiny of their country accomplished."

HUNDRED YEARS SINCE SOLDIERS WILL FIGHT IN CEMENT TRENCHES.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Berlin, March 9.—Because of the large part which trenches have played in the present war, the Deutsche Tageszeitung foresees tremendous developments along this line of conflict. If in another 100 years the peoples of Europe shall again stand arrayed against one another it be believed that the soldiers will do their fighting in cement trenches, constructed, not by hand, but by boring machines.

FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS IN BANK WANTS OWNER: ARE YOU LUCKY PERSON?

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Memorize, Mich., March 9.—There is $500 in the Farmers' National bank here that nobody wants.

At least, that appears to be the situation, as Probate Judge Stiles has been forced to advertise for an owner. The money was deposited by the late William Somerville, judge of probate, 19 years ago. He retired and then died in 1904, but no record can be found to show where the money was left.

DALLAS LAYS CORNERSTONE OF NEW UNION STATION.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Dallas, Texas, March 9.—The cornerstone of the new local $5,000,000 station was laid here today with elaborate ceremonies. Gov. James E. Ferguson, the Texas Railroad Commission and many prominent state and railroad officials were present.

The new station grounds and filling in to escape the flood waters from the Trinity will cost $2,000,000. The station, roundhouses, freight houses, tracks and equipment will cost $3,000,000. The site in several acres including a part of the old "reservation" and extending back into lowlands which, now reclaimed, might otherwise have remained an eye sore for many years.

HEROIC SURVIVORS OF VESSEL "EMDEN" CROSS INDIAN OCEAN

Little Schooner That Sunk Many British Merchantmen Slips Into Harbor Past French Cruiser.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Berlin, March 9.—The heroic survivors of the Emden have succeeded in doing what even the boldest optimists in the fatherland scarcely dared hope for—they have saved themselves. Under the eyes of a French armored cruiser the crew of the schooner Ayesha landed without mishap on the soil of our Turkish ally, says a dispatch to the Berlin Tagblatt.

The forty-one men and three officers under the command of the first officer of the Emden, Lieutenant von Mücke, who formed the landing party at Keeling island and were unable to return to their ship before the naval battle in which she was destroyed, did not even think of surrender.

Schooner Seized.

They seized a schooner in the harbor, placed their machine guns, an old howitzer and provisions on board and fled to sea. They were heard of again for the first time when they anchored in a harbor of the Dutch possession Sumbatra. Here they re-provisioned and turned toward Indian waters. A new Emden had appeared.

The audacity of its crew amazed the world. They succeeded in overhauling and destroying many hostile coast vessels. They seized the British coal-carrying vessel Oxford and equipped her as a temporary cruiser.

At home the activity of Von Mücke's band received deserved recognition. Some time ago the little schooner Ayesha was in honor of its crew ranked among the German men-of-war. The German official report speaks of "M. M. Ayesha," and this name will always be linked in memory with that of the Emden as long as German history is of interest.

The men had only a limited supply of ammunition, and it they wished to reach their own forces or escape their pursuers, it seemed impossible, however. But the little schooner cut across the Indian ocean, escaped all hostile traps and found its way through the carefully guarded Turkish coast.

Slip by French Cruiser.

The commandant of the French armored cruiser, within sight of which the Emden landed, never thought for a moment that the little sailing vessel could contain the crew of the Emden. The men-of-war of the allies were seeking the second Emden. They were looking for a ship which would never have believed that this ship was several thousand miles distant from these waters; that its crew was living mainly upon coconuts and chocolate, would be the Indian ocean in a schooner.

ANIMALS ARE DENIED FOOD BY THE FRENCH

No Public Feeds for Animals in Paris Since Outbreak of Conflict—Pigeons Being Trained.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Paris, March 9.—Stray dogs continue to be a sort of by-product of the war in Paris. Besides the dogs which are intentionally abandoned, there are one or two stray cats, fifteen a day taken to the pound by their owners who are unable to feed them and who prefer to have their cats "eaten" rather than turn them loose to their fate.

The animals of the Zoological section of the Jardin des Plantes were never neglected by the public, and for the first time in its interesting career, the pet bear "Martin" who once required his favorite rabbit's foot before he could be enticed out of his den, is now glad to climb out of his hole on the edge of the railing for anything that is edible. The director of the Zoological section has found it necessary to increase the rations of all his boarders by reason of this abnormal situation.

The sparrows that were formerly fed in the squares and public gardens by the sewing-girls from the dressmaker's establishments, from the remnants of their mid-day meals, are thin and woe-begone. The large flock of pigeons of the Square de la Trinite were formerly fed by thoughtful visitors, who have been dispersed entirely in the search for better feeding places. Some of them have found their way to the city, where they were to share with the pigeons of the quarter the protection of the veteran letter-carrier, Monsieur Poi, one of the features of Paris to complain of the city authorities. They have been obliged to learn new roles, which are by the state of war. The exercises for which he trained them, have all been given a military character. The present day pigeon is a dignified bird who responds with a stately gravity to the name of "General French." The flying corps is the order "in the air."

PHILADELPHIA WANTS A HOTEL DE GINK

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Philadelphia, March 9.—High officials of the International Brotherhood Welfare Association, whose disinterested work has made them leaders among "sons of red," are trying to persuade Mayor Blankenburg and the City Property Bureau to permit them to establish a "Pop house" in the city along the lines of the "Hotel de Gink" in New York.

Mexico City, March 9.—In an effort to check the widespread activity of counterfeiters, the Mexican authorities are making a special roundup of these criminals who, when caught in the act of making bogus money, are to be shot without trial. LA TOURAINE DOCKS; INSTITUTE INQUIRY ON CAUSE OF FIRE

Begin Immediate Investigation of Blaze Which Threatened French Liner—Captain's Story.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Havre, March 9.—A rigid inquiry already has been begun into all phases of the fire at sea aboard the French line steamer La Touraine, which docked here yesterday and landed safely all her passengers. The steamer Rotterdam, one of the vessels which saved the crew of the La Touraine, called and stood by until the fire was extinguished. Left the French liner at Pravia Point, England. The French liner, Captain Gaus, and the Rotterdam, Captain Gaus, which also went to the La Touraine's assistance, escorted her, however, as far as Cherbourg and then continued on her way. Other vessels which answered Captain Gaus's call were informed there was no need for their services, and continued their trip after receiving the thanks of the liner's commander.

Captain's Account.

The captain told the story of the fire after he had taken his vessel safely to her docks.

"The fire was discovered at 2 a. m. Saturday, March 6, when he was in the harbor of Cherbourg. The fire broke out in the boiler room. The boiler room was in the base of one of the ventilators in the boiler room. Heavy smoke found its way to the bridge. While the men in the boiler room sought to extinguish the blaze, which was not serious in itself, turned my attention to other parts of the ship.

At this moment one of the night watch reported hearing the crackling of flames forward. I ordered all the crew to their stations and as the ship was in a mist, I gave directions to turn the vessel in order that I might leave the bridge for the scene of the blaze. We discovered flames eating their way toward the postoffice and beginning to attack neighboring cabins. We discovered that flames were spreading to partitions and floor of compartment No. 2, so as to involve a large amount of freight.

Believing that so large a part of the cargo might take fire and finding we were not able to deal with it easily, I decided to send out a call for help. Meanwhile, through the smoke in the partitions, we obtained a view of the fire, which then was attacked with jets of water and steam. Sunday morning the vessel was again under way. The blaze and the danger were past.

NOT ALL GERMAN SOLDIERS DESERVE THE IRON CROSS.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Berlin, March 9.—While from day to day there are reported the awards of the Iron Cross, the Iron Cross for bravery on the field, word comes occasionally of incidents of an opposite character.

In this category falls the case of a German soldier who was reported sent to the eastern battle-front. Just as his company was about to go into action the embryo soldier was taken ill and was given a month's furlough.

He promptly appeared in Berlin with a tale of having had his horse shot from under him, of having been cowardly and of having been saved from dying by his watch, which he said had been shattered by the bullet. In testimony he showed a hole in his uniform.

The soldier's story was so childish and was told with such becoming modesty that he infuriated an elderly woman, who showered gifts on him. This result in turn so went to his head that he presently became a sergeant's stripes—promoted by the Iron Cross—and cut a wide swath in feminine society. Incidentally he overestimated his own importance.

RUSSIANS SHOW MUCH DISCIPLINE IN SIEGE IN GALICIA TERRITORY.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Berlin, March 9.—A more favorable view of the discipline in the Russian army in Galicia than predicted during the autumn invasion of East Prussia, is being given by the Berlin Tagblatt, who recently visited Nage-Sandec on the Dunajec River a short time after it had been occupied by the Russian army.

At the corner of one street he saw a hook fastened to the wall, from which, as he was informed by the owner, the Russian had hanged one of their soldiers or plunderers. There was still visible on the adjacent wall the following inscription in Russian: "The Russian army is a disciplined army. It does not plunder. It respects the property of the civilian population. It is a disciplined army. It does not plunder. It respects the property of the civilian population."

Adelt goes on to say that the Russians maintained strict discipline in the city. As further examples of their stringency he mentions that one soldier who stole a beam was given fifty strokes with the knout; while another who strayed into the quarters of other soldiers and made use of their things was given thirty strokes.

ORAL REPLY OF CARRANZA IS A DENIAL

TELLS SILLIMAN THAT OBREGON NEVER HELD UP FOOD SHIPMENTS TO MEXICO CITY.

WARSHIPS GET ORDERS

Secretary Daniels Orders Fletcher to Dispatch Two War Crafts to Vera Cruz—Believe Carranza Will Act.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, March 9.—General Carranza has made a preliminary reply to the American representation, denying the existence of conditions in Mexico City which the United States has called upon him to improve.

Carranza's Oral Statement.

In a statement made orally to Consul Silliman at Vera Cruz, which was laid before President Wilson and the cabinet today, the Mexican chief said that Obregon never prevented food from reaching the Mexican capital. Carranza's oral statement was taken in official quarters to forestall the tenor of a formal answer now being drafted. Generally it was regarded as an administration quarters as favorable and as an indication that Carranza would no longer approve any inconvenience to foreigners.

Meanwhile, however, orders went forward to Rear Admiral Fletcher, commanding the Atlantic fleet at Guantanamo, to send two more battleships to Vera Cruz.

See Change of Attitude.

While awaiting a reply to the representation to General Carranza to take steps to improve conditions in Mexico City, the administration today began taking steps to carry out what most of the foreign diplomatic corps here interpret as an entire change of attitude toward the whole Mexican situation.

Rear Admiral Fletcher, commanding the Atlantic fleet at Guantanamo, ordered to send two ships to Vera Cruz, to strengthen the small fleet already there or gathering from other ports.

Two Battleships Ordered.

After a conference early today with President Wilson, Secretary Daniels ordered two battleships of the Atlantic fleet from Guantanamo to Vera Cruz. Rear Admiral Fletcher, commanding the fleet, will choose the battleships that are to go to Vera Cruz to reinforce the small fleet already there. The only specification Secretary Daniels made in his order was that one of the ships should be a flag ship, in order to put an officer of high rank in command of the forces.

ARGUE FOR A RAISE IN RATES ON GRAIN

Grain is First Commodity Considered At Railroad Hearing in Chicago.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, March 9.—Increase on freight rates on grain, asked by the one western railroad, were considered at the interstate commerce commission's hearing today at the first of the commodities upon which the roads asked that they be permitted to raise in order to boost their revenue. The increase asked for by the roads are one cent per hundred pounds from points west of the Missouri river to Chicago, and two cents per hundred pounds for grain shipped for export to the Gulf of Mexico. E. B. Lloyd, chairman of the committee of western trunk lines, was the first witness to be called. On March 13 increased rates on live stock, fresh meats, packing house products and fertilizer materials are to be considered.

The aid of the Research Bureau was enlisted through the efforts of Judge Brown, President of the Municipal Court, who believes that a scientific study of the court's development is highly desirable.

Director Rhea, stated the investigation is to analyze the accumulated facts in the court records and to provide for such continuous analysis in the future. The investigation is to be made for constructive and preventive social work.

WANT IMPROVEMENTS AT CORN EXCHANGE

Civic Council Brings Fountain "A Disgrace" and Names Committee to Wait Upon Commissioners.

Members of the civic council, which met last evening at the city hall, were urgent in their demand that the city make improvements to the Corn Exchange square and the streets bordering it. The present fountain was branded a "disgrace" and a committee composed of F. P. Starr, W. E. Clinton and W. H. Blair was chosen to wait upon the city commissioners to request that some sort of improvement be made in the square and the streets bordering it. This committee was also instructed by A. S. Krotz, president of the council, to see what could be done to ward cleaning away the debris which litters both banks of the river above and below Milwaukee street bridge. Strangers get a bad impression of the city when they see such unsightly places, said one of the members. When the city has gone to the expense of building a bridge costing $36,000, one of the most beautiful structures in the state, it was a shame that the view which one saw from it, looking down the river, was so ugly. The committee also expressed the opinion that the fountain was a disgrace to the city and that it should be removed. Not only does this situation poorly advertise the city, but it is a disgrace to the citizens of the city. The committee is not such as to encourage them to aid in the spring clean-up campaign, which will be aided and furthered by the civic council.

To prevent the sale of liquor in any Janesville cafe or restaurant was another matter which President Krotz put before the meeting that met with hearty approval. A report was made that there had been violations of the ordinance prohibiting the sale of liquor, and preventive steps will be taken if court action is necessary. Members of the executive committee of the Civic league, assisted the dentists in the inspection made at all of the schools, reported that the work had been completed, but that a final report had not been compiled and final statistics would be published when this was finished. The number of children with perfect teeth found in the Janesville schools was astounding, it was declared.

The rest rooms at the two hitch barns were reported on by women who had the improvements in charge. The comfort station at the east side stables has been completed and was thoroughly appreciated by the country women. The rooms at the west side will be finished this week and a marked improvement is reported. The committee in charge of the rooms aims to advertise them extensively to the country people, showing Janesville as a desirable trading center with the comfort stations as a drawing card.

It reads: "Resolved, That the postal system be extended so as to include the entire express business."

The public of Janesville is invited to hear these teams present their arguments. Judges from outside the school have been secured, and the entertainment should be well worth while.

INVADERS RUSS NEST AND NOT CAPTURED

Infantryman's Note Home Tells of Daring Expedition to Draw Out Czar's Troops.

Berlin, March 8.—A soldier's letter from the Eastern front describes an effort of a patrolling party to discover whether there were any Russians in a forest in front of a German position. With fixed bayonets through the woodland, thrusting a steel into every thick bush, or throwing a flare of light into them from their pocket lamps.

"They found no game" and were emerging from the forest at the point where they had entered it, when they suddenly saw a Russian sentinel before them in heavy fur coat and cap. He was half asleep, taking up the narrative here, the letter reads:

"I seized the Russian by the lapel of his coat and swore at him in Polish, Russian and German. 'Hands up, we demand, and he did it. One of us watched him while the others made an examination of the surroundings. We found a cave, such as we build for our sentries.

RISE OF FLOOD WATER IN MADISON LAKES WILL CAUSE DRAINAGE TROUBLE.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., March 9.—This city is confronted with a serious problem, owing to the abnormal rise in the levels of Lakes Monona and Mendota. The former is a foot above its normal level, while the latter is six inches higher. The natural drainage system from Mendota to Monona does not relieve the upper lake as fast as is desirable, because the lower lake is smaller. The frozen condition of the ground prevents the water being absorbed and the situation presents a condition that will be handled by engineers with difficulty.

RITCHIE FACES TASK IN REGAINING TITLE FROM FREDDIE WELSH

Stanley Ketchel Was Only Fighter Ever Regained Title From Boxer Who Took It From Him.

Will Willie Ritchie win back the lightweight championship when he clashes with Champ Freddie Welsh in New York Thursday night, thereby accomplishing a feat that has been done once in the history of the squared arena?

The prospective encounter is attracting world-wide attention for the reason Ritchie is looked upon as the foremost rival of the British milt-wielder and defensive artist for the title. As the ex-champ terms it, he was "jobbed" out of his title in London a year ago, when Welsh gained the title through a hairline decision after twenty rounds of "English" fighting. The match Thursday will definitely settle the present day status of Ritchie and will determine if the Californian should be the first American lightweight to meet Welsh over the derby route for twenty rounds with a decision attached to the battle.

London Battle.

Ritchie lost the title to the Welshman on July 7th, 1914, and during that boxing exhibition there was less punishment inflicted than in any other ring encounter that decided a title. Welsh jabbed and danced his way to the victory, for either boxer was not even staggered by the blows. Welsh fought a poor battle, according to American views, but he lost anyway, and the result of that fight has earned him well over a hundred thousand dollars and lost to Ritchie almost the same amount, for the American during his reign had a fondness for attacking and not for defending, and the milt-wielder unless an option of the Washington mint was given him.

Ritchie in Condition.

The former champ declares himself to be in perfect condition to defeat Welsh, and confidence marks his expression about the fray. "If Welsh will stand up and fight me like a man, and not run away and cover up as he did in London, I will be champion Friday morning by knocking him out," is the manner in which Ritchie speaks of the outcome. Ritchie is wise enough to grant that if Welsh resorts to his defensive tactics and with the aid of his manager, Referee Roach, he may be outpointed. It takes two to make a battle, but the American declares he will not be found wanting in aggressiveness with the going taps. A thorough system has been employed in the rejuvenation of the United States champion, and he is thriving on the strenuous training. Press reports show that he is fit to deliver from a physical standpoint, and Ritchie was never accused of having a faint heart when he opposed a ring rival. He has fought Welsh twice, and it is up to him to deliver, and the best wishes of the American fight followers are with him.

Welsh Confident.

Plugging away and quiet about the predication, is Freddie Welsh, who is confident that he will win. Welsh may have proved a dancing artist with his light jabs, but in his numerous battles in this country he has proven he could fight and slug with the best of them. His first battle since coming to America with his title was against Ad Wolgast, who is about the mightiest fighter from a slugging standpoint that is in the game at present. Welsh outslugged and outroughed the former champ and had him out in the eighth, when Ad broke a new bone—the 99th. Welsh's exhibition in the recent Milwaukee bout with Charlie White, whom Chicago boosted for the title, was the greatest display of ring skill that western fans ever witnessed. Despite his wonderful science the champion is not popular, and this is declared to be due to the fact that the British milt-wielder is not a puncher. Feathery jabs and marvellous footwork are not the American view of a division monarch. The champion is expected to win—not by points—but the slumbering wallow.

Might Be Anglo.

If Welsh evades Ritchie by defensive boxing, the New York milt will be a good imitation of a pink tea party, for Ritchie never was forced to fight with his title was never won. The fight was coming to him, Ritchie is credited with a powerful punch, but it would be a miracle to land a R. O. Jolt on Welsh in ten rounds, for the Britisher does not go into the ring to get hurt, and he generally don't.

Ketchel Only One.

Only once has a fighter who lost his title won the honor back from the man who took it from him. Stanley Ketchel was the wonder worker in Los Angeles in 1908. Billy Papke knocked Ketchel out in twelve rounds when the Illinois thunderbolt caught the husky cowboy a slam between the eyes.

TEN YEARS MISERY ENDED.

J. P. Chambers, merchant, Jonesboro, Ark., writes: "Foley Kneely Pills cured me of a ten-year standing case of rheumatism. I suffered miserably. A friend told me of being cured, so I used them, and they cured me, too." Most middle-aged men and women are glad to learn that Foley Pills afford a way to escape sleep disturbing bladder weakness, backache, rheumatism, painless under eyes, stiff and swollen joints, and other ailments attributed to kidney troubles.—W. T. Sherer.

Sport Snap Shots

MORRIS MILLER

The Boston club does not propose to let anything interfere with its fulfilling the prediction that it will win the flag in the coming campaign. However, many things may happen to stop a team, even though every precaution be taken to fortify it against accidents. It would seem safer prediction to pick the Braves to repeat that to figure the Red Sox as having a cinch on the pennant. The Braves should not have as difficult a struggle the coming season as they did last year, as Stallings' team has been strengthened. There is no getting away from the fact that the addition of Sherwood Magee to the team will be of great help, for he is still one of the greatest hitters the game has ever produced, and it was in batting strength that the Braves' outfield was lacking last season.

The Yankees and Home Run Baker could agree quickly enough, but Connie Mack cannot see that Baker batting for New York would make much of a hit with the fans in Philadelphia.

For the first time in the history of the Kentucky derby there are several imported colts of rich English blood among this year's entries. There have been three-year-olds full of the imported strains entered before, but never have entrants been named which were bred, foaled and raised abroad.

Scout Joe Kelly of the New Yorks will have a merry time of it this spring. He will gumshoe through as many of the major league camps as possible, keeping an eye toward desired talent likely to be turned back to the minors. Joe will visit both American and National league training quarters.

Some of the players under contract to the Yankees do not appear to be in any unseemingly haste to report to training camp. Bill Donovan still is smiling, but it is a somewhat grimmer smile.

Fat candidates for places on the White Sox country out in California are Clarence Rowland, their new boy manager, and Rowland himself leads the squad of runners, keeping a watchful that nobody shirks the task.

The European war has its drawbacks and its advantages for ball players in Canadian cities. For instance, there are 10,000 soldiers garrisoning Victoria in the Northwest-ern league, and every one of the khaki-clad lot is a ball fan.

"Fugilism's biggest financial frost" is the way they are referring to that Freddy Welsh-Charlie White go at Milwaukee the other day. The gate receipts were exactly $7,538, less than one-third the amount the same fight drew last November.

Sam Crane reports that the ancient Jerry Denny came to him recently and sought his advice about buying the Trenton franchise in the Tri-State league. Jerry has been out of the game for about twenty years, and it is odd that the fever should strike him at a time when baseball is about at its worst.

John J. McGraw believes that if his young pitchers prove worthy he should have the best team of years. He thinks very highly of Palmero, the Cuban, who has been very effective this winter.

Charles H. Ebbets will have as his guest at Daytona, Billy Klem, the celebrated National league umpire. Klem is going to officiate in all of Brooklyn's spring exhibition games in the city, and it is likely that he will help in the Ebbets Field contests between the Dodgers and New Yorks.

The two Canadian teams of the International league—Toronto and Montreal—will pursue a course of complete loyalty in their spring training. They have made arrangements to train at Bermuda, a popular British possession. The athletes will sail for the island from Washington March 31.

INDIANAPOLIS WILL COP FEDERAL FLAG IF DOPE IS RIGHT

"Whoa Bill" Phillips Expects to Repeat in Baby Major League With Same Old Team.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Indianapolis, Ind., March 9.—"Whoa Bill" Phillips, the tactician leader of the two-time champions of the Federal league, is going to lead about the same crew into the 1915 pennant fight. The Hoosiers were easily the class of the baby major league last season and Bill can't see where his club needs a whole lot of bolstering. One thing, he needs, and he freely admits it, is another good pitcher, one who can be depended on to win half his games or a little over. This man must essentially be a southpaw, for as the Hoosiers were slightly weak in that species last season.

One other thing that is worrying the officials more than they will admit. That is the fact that Vin Campbell, formerly with Pittsburgh and Boston and outfielder extraordinary has not yet attached his signature to a 1915 contract. Neither has Bill McKechnie, the snappy little third baseman. The absence of these two would leave Phillips in a pretty hole. Both are holding out for more money, it is said which the club officials have as yet refused to meet. However, Phillips is fairly confident they will come to terms before the umpires shout "Play Ball."

Carr is on edge.

With these two back in line Phillips is planning to stand pat with possibly one exception. That is first base. Charley Carr, the veteran, who played the bag last year succumbed to old age during the winter months and gave up the job. Phillips is grooming his sensational little outfielder, Ed Rousch, for the job, and the youngster looks like a contender. He is fast on his feet, a good hitter and a streak on bases. Bill kept him on the bench most of last season and when he did let him get into the game as a regular, he clouted the ball for an average of .340 and fielded like a fiend. There is one other candidate for the bag, Nap Huhn, a recruit. Also, there is a possibility that shortstop Campbell not come to terms, leaving a hole in the outfield, Phillips may secure Joe Agler of Buffalo, or Hugh Bradley of Pittsburgh to cover the bag, putting Rousch back in the field. Chase has crowded Agler out at Buffalo and Ed. Koney has done the same thing to Bradley at Pittsburgh.

Heavy With Stick.

Phillips is banking to a large extent on his batting strength to carry him through the rough places this season. There wasn't a team in the league last year that could come near the Hoosiers in batting. Regulars swatted the ball for better than .300. In Kauff, the 1914 sensation, Campbell, Rousch and McKechnie Phillips had four of the best base runners in Gilmore's circuit.

Falkenburg, Mosely, Kaiserling, Billiard, Mullin, and several youngsters comprise the hurling department. The first three are dependable men. Billiard is erratic, pitching in and out ball last year, and Mullin is in the veteran class. However, Bill has a faculty of developing youngsters and it would not be surprising to see him pick a few phenoms out of his usual lot when the season gets under way.

Frank Laporte will be seen back at second, as will Jimmie Edmond at short, McKechnie, a youngster of promise, Rariden, aside from a night battering, whose business is on the best receivers in the business. He has few peers at fielding his position.

Rookies for Outfield.

For the outfield Phillips has Kauff, Scheer, Rousch, Kaiser, a rookie or two and Campbell, possibly. Should Vin sign, the outfield will be composed of and in center Kauff is right, and Scheer or Rousch in left.

Fans here are confidently expecting to see the Hoosiers repeat this season. They are solidly behind Phillips and his club.

Members of the 1914 team not requested to report were Everett Boone, outfielder; Carl Vandagriff, infielder; Bill Warren, catcher; Bert Padfield, pitcher and infielder Potter, a recruit.

WILL STAGE JOHNSON-WILLARD BOUT APRIL THIRD AT HAVANA

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Havana, March 9.—A fight for the world's heavyweight pugilistic championship will take place at Havana April 3 between Jack Johnson and Jess Willard.

The last obstacle in the way of having the fight take place here was removed this afternoon when Jack Curley, who endeavored to have the men meet at Juarez, Mexico, March 6, received a cable from Willard saying that he would start immediately for Havana, arriving here from New Orleans March 15. The terms for the fight are identical with those which would have prevailed had the encounter taken place at Juarez.

Mr. Curley will act as the chief promoter, and will be assisted by Richard Klegin, as managing director. The site of the battle has not yet been selected, but several excellent places are available. Johnson began training today. Willard probably will have training quarters at Mariano.

NONE OF IT HERE.

What on earth becomes of the fortunes that the Federals refuse to take back from the repentant jumpers? Whenever a player leaps back to his old club and returns the big bonus that the Feds advanced him, it is solemnly announced that the Federal league will refuse to accept the money. Ivy Wingo's $1,000 advance roll has been sent back and refused, therefore another thousand is added to the $6,000 refused from Walter Johnson, a sum of perhaps $5,000 refused from Bill Killifer, and various other wads of kale.

In all, you believe these "refuse to take it" statements, there must be $30,000 floating aimlessly round the atmosphere, crying aloud "Come reap me."

BROMWICH HOPES TO GET THIRD BASE JOB

The only position on his team which is giving Manager Rowland of the White Sox real concern is third base. There are at present four candidates for the job—Bromwich, Baker, Blackburne and Bretton.

ELKHORN OPPONENTS IN LAST HOME GAME ON FRIDAY EVENING

Great Crowd Expected to Attend Contest Scheduled Before Milton Meet—Situation in State.

As in former years the Janesville high school basketball team are fighting for a place from the south-eastern section in the state championship tournament, to be held at Lawrence college, Appleton, on April 1st, 2nd and 3rd.

As the situation now presents itself Janesville has a chance to represent this section with either Evansville or Beloit. Janesville has but one more scheduled contest to play, this game coming on Friday night in the local gymnasium with the Elkhorn team. Elkhorn won third place at the Beloit meet last week, when the Beloit highs forfeited to them.

The high school students are laying plans for a monster evening and a preliminary send-off for the team to the Milton meet. It is expected that the largest crowd of the year will fill the high school gym and watch the team perform in its last scheduled game of the year. Next Wednesday morning, the squad leaves for Milton, and there is no doubt but what a hundred or more students will be at the games.

It is still a question whether Richards will be allowed to play or not. At present his chances are slim. Weirick will be placed at his former job, if he is ruled out. Frank Lee, as a guard, Jones as a center and Kalvas as a forward make a good string of subs to be called upon. A victory by a large score over Elkhorn Friday night will give Janesville an excellent record thus far this season, a record rivaled only by Beloit in this section. The fact that Racine, Burlington, Elkhorn, Kenosha and Waukesha have played only fair games with fair records, or worse, at all to speak of, leaves Janesville and Beloit, with Evansville a third contender in the race. Janesville plans to meet Evansville at the Milton meet and if a victory for the blues is obtained there, the question of Janesville going to the state meet will be a certainty.

State Done.

La Crosse is out of the race. Baraboo and Tomah are the teams in the southwestern section to fight it out. Baraboo is predicted as the probable winner in this elimination contest. Appleton has a peculiar record. They have won and lost and are on the edge of being thrown out by tourney officials. One more chance, it is understood, will be given that school. Fond du Lac beat Madison high at Madison last Friday night and if the Fondy five wins the state title, Madison cannot enter a protest. The results of games played last week are as follows:

Edgerton, 28; Milton, 9.
Waukesha, 29; Kenosha, 17.
Wausau, 39; Tomahawk, 15.
Jefferson, 18; Port Atkinson, 13.
Monona, 28; Appleton, 1.
Stoughton, 35; Sheboygan, 15.
Janesville, 32; Jefferson, 31.
Fond du Lac, 57; Beloit, 17.
Baraboo, 28; La Crosse, 20.
Fond du Lac, 37; Madison H. S., 22.
Wisconsin Highs, 54; Portage, 10.
Monroe, 33; Darlington, 6.

MILLERS BEATEN BY ASSOCIATION QUINT

Captain Huebel and Teammates Beat Main Street Bowlers By 90 Pins in Exciting Fight.

A good deal of interest and rivalry is being manifested between the Y. M. C. A. and Miller's bowling teams these days. The regular Monday evening matches, played alternately at the two alleys, has created no small amount of enthusiasm. THE only ground for dispute about the Real Tobacco Chew is when a man doesn't get it. He depends on it for himself, he boosts it to others and nothing will take its place for daily comfort.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to chew, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is the Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

RITCHIE MITCHELL WINS BOUT WITH CHARLEY SCULLY; SCOTTY WHIPS BOBBY WARD

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milwaukee, March 9.—Milwaukee could see a title for Ritchie Mitchell if he only had a wallow. Last night Ritchie administered a most artistic, light punching, trouncing to Charley Scully of Ohio. The Cream City boy boxed as fast as a streak, stabbing Scully with jabs and peppering his face with such a block of blows that the Ohio boy was under the impression the ring was full of gloves.

In the semi-windup Young Scully outroughed and outfought Bobby Ward of Beloit in eight thrilling rounds. Scully's rushes and blitz style had Ward at sea before the bout was over and the Jones Island champion had no trouble

ROY K. MOULTON

The Day's News.

Hon. Gardner says how we are untrained and he can see how an European nation,

Even of secondary station,

May come over here mayhap,

And expunge us from the map.

Guess he doesn't read the papers,

Which print stories of the capers

Of gunmen of New York

Who size human life with pork.

Telling guns is now a labor

Every man, also neighbor.

Undertakes these perilous days,

Of the big street shooting frays.

Every burglar, every stick-up,

Carries all that he can pick up

In the way of shooting frays,

And the cities and environs

Are brim full of decent guys

Who tote guns against surprise.

We look tame, but underneath

We are armed to the teeth.

Oh! Those Women!

A young man in the country had a lover passion and took his girl some flowers. "How kind of you," said the girl, "to bring me these lovely flowers. They are so beautiful and fresh. I think there is some dew on them yet." Yes, said the young man in great embarrassment, there is, but I'm going to pay it off tomorrow.

Mrs. Newland called at the meat market the other morning and asked the butcher if he had any nice slumps. "Slumps? What are they?"

asked the butcher. "Indeed, I don't know; but my husband is always talking about a slump in the market,

so I thought I'd try one."

An editor of our acquaintance got a dollar a word for what he wrote.

Yes, he wrote "Please remit," and a fellow paid him $2 that he owed him.

Uncle Abner.

Vice President Marshall has been warned not to talk very much. But what if he does? Nobody will know it.

When it comes to the expense of pany is deadlier than the mail.

Kansas gals have decided that they won't marry men who smoke, chew, drink, play cards or use profanity.

Gosh. There will be a lot of old maids in Kansas.

The department of agriculture will send out one million cook books and,

by gosh, there ain't nothin' that this country needs more unless it is something to cook.

Your Town.

If you find that you've got to growl about

Your town, it is time to git clean

plumb out

And hide the discontented face

And let the folks stay who enjoy the place.

Just wrap your duds in a nice round

pack

And beat it down the railroad track.

When the train pulls out you kin shake your fist nothin'

And go your way, you will never be missed.

For there ain't no room on the old home roost

For the fellow who doesn't know how to boost.

There are lots of men who can't earn their salt

'Cause they spend all their time

a findin' fault.

The booster's the boy who knows his cue

And he sticks right to it, through if he has kind things of his town to tell.

It's dollars in his jeans, and he knows it well.

And the fellow who finds fault day and night,

Will never find a town that will suit him, quite.

A Winter's Tale.

A muffled figure softly stole

On hands and knees into a hole

As dark as night. The way was rough.

With cough and cuss and other stuff.

The place was clammy, damp and chill.

As in a dungeon. All was still

Excepting for the wheeze

Of the explorer on his knees

Who sought a mystery to clear.

In this deep, ghostly cavern drear.

A candle shed its trembling rays,

Distorting objects forty ways.

The grim explorer, o'er the trail,

With trembling limbs and features

pale,

Pressed ever on, to be the first

One of his kin to know the worst.

UNABLE TO EXPLAIN HOW TRAMP MET HIS DEATH

Further investigations by the county and railroad officials has revealed nothing that would tend to explain how the unknown man found Saturday afternoon met his death near Reed's crossing on the Northwestern line south of this city. The body is being held at the railroad. Undertaking rooms in hopes that the man will be identified. Burial will probably be made Wednesday or Thursday morning.

A claim agent of the Northwestern railroad went over the scene yesterday with a local employe and they could not give an authentic reason of the cause of the death. It was advanced that the man may have been heating his way on the pilot of the locomotive, became numb in the cold windy Friday night and fell off, receiving the scalp wound when he struck the ground or the side of the track. From the roadbed it is supposed he crawled to the side of the bank and died from exposure.

WATER WORKS BONDS SOLD BY OFFICIALS WITH GOOD PREMIUM

Special Committee Sells Water Works Bonds to Emery, Peck and Rockwood Firm for $2,936.

The eighty thousand dollars worth of negotiable municipal "water works" bonds issued by the city of Janesville, bearing interest at five per cent, maturing at the end of twenty years, was sold to the Emery, Peck and Rockwood company of Chicago for a premium of $2,936 by the special committee of city officials this morning. This will bring the interest of the bond down to a fraction less than 4.5 which is the best bargain this city has ever realized in the sale of bonds. D. R. Peck, member of the bond purchasing committee, conferred with Mayor Farnsworth and the committee members were made for a complete transaction, whereby the city will obtain the eighty thousand dollars for use in the purchase of the water works plant. The complete records of all transactions dealing with the election, valuation, and bond ordinance were taken by Mr. Peck this morning to be approved by the firm's attorney, Mr. Peck is the son of George W. Peck of Milwaukee, and the only democratic governor of Wisconsin now living.

The purchasing bond house will pay for the printing of the bonds, which costs $75, making the exact premium $3,007. This amount will be used for the operation of the water works and will pay the interest on the bonds for the bond issue and will tend to lower the taxes. There were many bids on bonds paying 4 per cent interest, but these were not considered as the local bonds are in much better demand. Sixteen bids were received from local men wishing from $500 to $1,000 bonds offering from 4.5 to 4.25, but to the bonds in blocks would have lost the bid premium.

The bid accepted is the highest premium that has ever been offered in this city and is indicative of the high rating in Janesville. The highest twelve bidders were as follows: Emery, Peck and Rockwood of Chicago, $2,936; S. F. Childs and company of Chicago, $2,808; J. A. Taylor of Chicago, $2,752; Harris Trust and Savings company of Chicago, $2,618.25; H. T. Holtz and company, Chicago, $2,542; First National bank of Janesville, $2,511; J. A. Childs and company, Chicago, $2,464; A. B. Leach and company, Chicago, $2,243; First National bank of Milwaukee, $2,007; Koehler, Cummings and Gruden, Chicago, $1,988; and a company of Toledo, $1,488; N. C. Haley and company, $2,108. H. C. Ewell, president of the state teachers' pension board, submitted a bid for $32,000 worth of the bonds.

OPPOSITION RAISED TO BALL CLUB HERE

Canvass for Funds Reveals Less Enthusiasm Than Anticipated—No Further Efforts Expected.

Failure to obtain the needed fifteen hundred dollars to back the baseball club in the new Bi-State league, and the withdrawal of the subscriptions of several, has put a damper on the prospects of organized ball in Janesville. The canvass for funds, which was held last evening at the home of President Harry McNamara and Frank P. Croak, elicited from the business men and found that the proposed club meets with much opposition.

That Janesville is too small in population to finance and support a ball club was the principal reason for the failure to raise the money. The splitting of the gate receipts, fifty and fifty with the larger clubs, met with adverse opinion among the promoters in the larger cities, and the Janesville men could not see where success could be gained in this city unless this rule was changed. Under the most favorable conditions the Janesville business men could not see where a league club would come out on the right side of the ledger, and the failure to raise the necessary amount practically amounts to the burial of the baseball plans.

President Harry McNamara communicated the result of their efforts to the league, and he and his associates expected to attempt to place Freeport in the place of Janesville. The business men declared their willingness to finance a local or county league for Sunday and holiday baseball and stood ready to support such an organization. Not even the most enthusiastic league supporters could see where a club here could draw enough to pay even the manager's salary of a hundred per month during the week days.

As other municipal subscriptions will be necessary, which promise to be more of a benefit to Janesville and Rock County, the directors have decided the organized ball club better be dropped for the present.

The Elgin baseball committee met with favorable aspects in raising two thousand dollars, and Elgin is expected to raise the necessary amount. The Elgin baseball committee met with favorable aspects in raising two thousand dollars, and Elgin is expected to raise the necessary amount.

ASSAULT WITH KNIFE RESULTS IN ARREST

Edward Boehn - Pleads Guilty to Assault With Intent to Do Great Bodily Harm This Morning.

A saloon fight that came near ending in a stabbing affair was stopped by patrolmen today. The fight broke out last night on River street and this morning Edward Boehn, a young farm hand, pleaded guilty to the charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm in a municipal court before Judge Maxfield.

In the Brown saloon George Strontz and Boehn became engrossed in an argument, which, it is said, resulted in Boehn's striking Strontz with a knife, swollen nose, alleged to have been the result of a blow from Strontz's manly fist. The pair were taken to the hospital, where Boehn started to flee and his story in court was to the effect that Strontz pursued him for nearly a block. In front of a River street barber shop he stopped and drew a wicked looking knife to stem the rush of his pugilistic opponent. The officer took the young farmer in charge before he escaped the knife and jailed him.

A warrant was sworn out for his arrest this morning by Strontz and the youth was hauled before the court of justice. He pleaded guilty, waived examination and told his account of the affair to the magistrate.

As District Attorney Dunwiddie was not present, and wishing to make further investigations, Judge Maxfield adjourned his court until Monday. Boehn was instructed to visit the minister of his church, receive some advice, and report in court.

August Kerstern of Jefferson Junction, is being held at the police station to recover from an attack of delirium tremens. Kerstern was arrested last evening by a highway patrolman and sent to Janesville for care as it was thought he was insane. The man is gradually recovering from the effects of excessive use of liquor and will be discharged today.

This afternoon of Wednesday morning Kerstern has a wife living in Jefferson, who has only been in this country from Germany, for the last five months.

The autopsy was conducted to gain evidence as to the cause of Mrs. Norton's death. Her husband has been charged with her murder and has been bound over to the circuit court for Barron county for trial. The physicians today examined the body to ascertain if there was evidence that Mrs. Norton was choked to death.

WOMAN'S PAGE

SIDE TALKS BY RUTH K. CAMERON

A TYPICAL WAR TALK.

Round a comfy open fire in a luxurious living room they sat—five well dressed, well groomed, well fed people, and talked about the horrors of war. "It's a horrible thing, this war," said the man with the smooth shaven face and the general air of sleek prosperity. "Makes you sick to think of it. Nothing like this ever happened to the advertising business before, I can tell you. It's just knocked it flat."

The woman beside him leaned forward and poked the fire idly. The firelight caught the facets of the many jewels on her long fingered white hands and set them beautifully aflame. "I've thought of nothing else since it started," she declared. "Such a lot of suffering and misery and what do you think, my husband said he'd give me a new car for Christmas and now, from the way he talks, we'll have to use the old one until it falls apart."

The "Horror" of War.

"I can't bear to hear it spoken of, it makes me feel so badly," put in the woman with the huge bunch of violets thrust negligently in her belt. "The poor, poor creatures. And my dear, we were going to build a summer cottage down by the lake and now we can't. I had the plans all drawn and they were adorable. Isn't it a shame?"

"Talk about the advertising business," boomed the big man with the close clipped little mustache that seemed to fairly shriek power and efficiency, "suppose you were on the stock exchange. There ought to be some way to stop war, it oughtn't to be allowed in civilized countries. It isn't decent, it isn't right, it isn't human!" he finished in a burst of righteous indignation.

"What's ahead anyway?" queried the fluffy little lady who was curled up in a magnificent crumple of silk and lace on the couch playing with the big white Persian.

The Silk-clad Sufferer.

"Don't you read the papers?" "Goodness, no," with a shrug. "It's all too horrible. I look to see if there's anything about the cotton situation and if there isn't I light the fire with the paper. I can't read about those horrors, you know. They make me so depressed."

"See, too," said the lady of the many rings, "and I'm tired of talking about it. Let's talk about something pleasanter." And they did.

Questions and Answers.

Question.—Do you think it is necessary for a girl of twenty-two to be chaperoned whenever she goes to the theatre with a man?—M. B. Reply.—That is a hard question for me, personally, I do not at all believe in the system of persistent chaperonage, but I know many people do and perhaps they are wiser than I. To my mind it is better to hedge a girl around with high ideals of conduct than with conventions, but if one wants to make assurance doubly sure perhaps both are needed. However, if one is to believe what one hears, there seems to be rather a wide wilderness in the middle class where such persistent chaperonage is rare than in the upper where it is the regular thing.

Question.—Doubter asks this question. "The Cynic has said a lot about household efficiency. Will you ask him how and where the average busy woman is going to get information on this subject?" Reply.—The Cynic suggests the pages devoted to the subject of home management in the best magazines; the newspaper articles; the housekeeping bulletins issued by the Gov. Department of Agriculture; a splendid book called "The New Housekeeping," by Christine Frederick; valuable booklets offered by advertisers.

do in the morning, while this settling dish on, to face a sink full of dirty dishes. "Well, we'll do them tonight, then; let's get right at them, for I have some business papers to sort over before I go to bed."

Dick rose and began jumbling things together on a tray. "You go sit down till I get things ready, Dick, dear, I'll call you when the water is hot. My, how I miss the hot water!"

"Now, Dick," she called a few minutes later. "Here's the towel. Wait till I pour the boiling water over these plates, they wipe so much easier." Well, that was for the little Dick turned and offered to lift it and in changing hands in some way the kettle tilted and the water pouring out, he banged the kettle down with a howl of pain.

"Hold the cloth away from your leg—that's it. Now can you get into the bedroom? We must see how badly you are burned."

Nell's feet, fingers soon had the burn exposed. It proved to be nothing very serious, as the water had run down the trouser leg and cooled a little before striking the skin. She banded the burn with wet soda, and, dipping the injured leg, handed Dick his papers to examine, and returned to her dishes, trembling with weariness and excitement.

That night Dick dropped off to sleep as soon as his head touched the pillow, for the smart of the burn had ceased, but Nell lay for hours listening to his regular breathing, crying softly from weariness and despair.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) We are two sisters of fifteen and seventeen years of age, and we have been keeping company with two young gentlemen, one of whom has been married and divorced. I think a great deal of this fellow and he has always treated me in a friendly manner. Do you think that I am too young to go with him? (2) How late should company after coming home from the theatre? (3) Does a young man think very much of a girl when he comes once and then waits two or three months before coming again? He has been keeping this up for a year. I should like to let him come back when he wants to. (4) Is rouge injurious to the skin? (5) What will remove freckles? (6) What do you think of a fellow who will speak sometimes on the street and other times turn his head?

(1) Yes. A girl of seventeen, if you are seventeen, should be going with boys of her own age, not divorced men. (2) Not at all. The boys who took you should leave you at the door. (3) He probably likes you, but is not in love with you. Of course let him come again. You are too young to have a man any more to you than a friend. (4) Yes. It roughens the skin. It is injurious to the reputation also. (5) Two drams of zinc, one-quarter dram, suboxide of bismuth, one and a half drams of dextrin, one and a half drams of glycerine. Spread the paste upon the freckles at night, before going to bed. In the morning, remove what dances at a dancing school in the afternoon it would be all right. She is too young to go anywhere else.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I go with a boy twenty years old and he says that he loves me. Does a boy of that age mean it or is he just fooling?

(2) Do you know of anything that will make my eyebrows and eyelashes grow thick and dark?

(3) What will make one's hair grow long and thick?

(4) Is there any lotion that will remove freckles and not harm the skin?

(1) The boy means it, I think, but he is too young to have a lasting love. (2) Red vaseline, five grams; boracic acid, five centigrams. Make into a smooth paste and massage into the brows at night, also rubbing lightly over the lashes at the roots. This lotion will make the eyebrows and lashes beautiful, but will not change their natural color. (3) Use a good tonic and give the scalp a thorough massage daily. (4) The lotion I printed recently is good and harmless. There may be some skins which it will not help, but it will not injure them.

WHAT OHIO DOES TO FILMS OF PASSION.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Columbus, O., March 9.—That demoralizing effect which scientists say emanates from movies into the brains of certain humans who consistently watch love, passion, phos and comedy thrown on the screen is at the minimum in Ohio.

Of eighty three reels, latest to be inspected by the Ohio board of censors, seven reels were entirely suppressed and twenty suffered cuts that will make the small boy who watches them less bloodthirsty and the lovesick young girl less reckless. This is what the movies characters did in these censored films but could not do in Ohio.

Kiss for twenty feet, (kisses are always cut three feet in Ohio) drink poison, drink liquor, stage a thirty foot fight, (fights are flashes only, if at all), kidnap someone, murder someone, smoke opium, take other vices and otherwise disfigure, gamble, put poison tablets in a glass of water, forcibly hug a girl, abduct someone and tie them to a boat, set on a man's lap, and several other little scenes that the censors thought would have effect on the morals of the movie patron.

Moving picture manufacturers are constantly at loggerheads with the Ohio censors on the ground that the constant "cutting and pasting" of films is an expense the manufacturers failed to figure on. It is charged the Ohio censors that the censors, anyway, and ought to be eliminated.

BELOIT MAYOR, COUNCIL AND ALICE CHIEF ARE MOVING PICTURE CENSORS.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Beloit, Wis., March 9.—Getting a dispatch past the European war censor will be a cinch compared to unloading on this peaceful community a movie that is at all risqué or objectionable in any particular.

Mayor Adams has started a movement to create a board of movie censors all his own. According to the mayor's plan, the mayor, Police Chief Qualman or an alderman may during the day close down any picture he runs off for inspection.

The movie men, who have acquiesced, are having slides altered to read "The National Board of Censors." And the Mayor of Beloit, Council and Members of the Common Council.

Any picture that doesn't come up to the standard adopted by Beloit officials—good night! What this standard is no one seems to know, but it is admittedly high.

EASY TO RID NATION OF PLAGUE SPOTS, SAYS EXPERT.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Phila., March 9.—The people of the United States can rid the country of plague spots and provide proper sanitation by exercising the proper spirit, in the opinion of Dr. C. Wardell Stiles, of the Rockefeller Hookworm Commission, lecturing here recently.

Dr. Stiles characterized the house fly as the national enemy, and asserted that health officers and physicians must educate the public in connection with the dangers of allowing this pest to spread infection.

"The hookworm disease is due to the pollution of the soil and lack of proper sanitation," declared Stiles. "And these two things are behind most of the evils and diseases."

WHY DID THIS GIRL KILL HERSELF? RICH MAN WITH DUAL LIFE TO BE QUESTIONED

Miss Lillian May Cook.

What were the wealthy Mr. Mayo's relations with this girl? New Haven police are asking. Mayo himself will be asked to tell. The pretty eighteen-year-old typist knew of her employer's dual life, his home in New Haven and his house in Brooklyn for "the other woman"—but what was the real secret of his friendship for her and her motive in taking her own life?

UP-TO-DATE RECIPES. Baked Pork Sausage—Place the rounds of sausage in shallow baking dish, pour over them a little steamed tomato, season to suit and bake until brown.

Mock Roast Chicken—Rub two pounds cooked beans through sieve, season to taste and mix in two cups melted butter. Spread half the mixture on floured board in a oblong; spread on this an onion stuffing and cover with the rest of beans. Mold into shape of fowl. Brush with beaten egg, put three tablespoons butter into a pan and, when very hot, place "chicken" in it and make, basting frequently for an hour. When "chicken" is done, make a gravy by adding half cup flour to the fat in which beans were cooked and boil five minutes. Season and strain. This is delicious and inexpensive.

Spinach Salad (also for this time of the year)—One peck spinach, one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper. Chop spinach in water until tender. Drain and chop spinach very fine, add chopped white of egg, place in bottom of mold, all with spinach and let cool. Serve on lettuce leaf with mayonnaise dressing.

Apple Salad—Make dressing of one egg, three rounding tablespoons flour, 1 1/2 cups water, one-fourth cup vinegar, one-fourth teaspoon celery seed and pinch of salt. Mix all well, put lump of butter size of walnut in frying pan, heat above mixture and cook until thick, then chill. Half gallon finely chopped apples, one cup walnut meats, one cup cream, one cup sugar, then add above mixture and stir well.

Quick Coffee Cake Rings—Cream one-fourth cup butter, three-fourths cup sugar, one egg. Add one cup milk, 2 1/2 cups flour sifted with two teaspoons baking powder. Stir well, add raisins, spread in rings around edges of two pie tins. Bake in moderate oven, removing (after spread begins to form) long enough to spread with sugar and cinnamon.

Cherry Mousse—Soak one tablespoon gelatin in three tablespoons cold water. Five minutes, then add one-fourth cup boiling water. As soon as this gelatin is dissolved add 1 1/2 cups dark red canned cherries which have been stoned and cut in half, with half cup of cherry juice which has been strained from the fruit. When it begins to thicken add whites of two eggs beaten stiff and a few grains of salt. Turn into mold that has been dipped in ice cold water.

Ears are in Style Again—Lift up Your Hair

The new style of lifting the hair from the ears looks much nicer if the hair is soft so it drapes around the ears rather than being pulled up in straight, hard lines. To get the best effect in any style of hairdressing, every strand must be fluffy, lustrous and, of course, clean. In washing the hair it is not advisable to use a makeshift, but always use a preparation made for shampooing only. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of cantilox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly, with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth. Advertisement.

Animal Jingles FOR LITTLE FOLK BY ALICE CREW GAIL

THE ILLNESS OF CHAUNCEY CAT.

Young Chauncey Cat was poorly—said he. "I think I will send round for good old Doctor Rat, because I am so ill. I have so many symptoms, they are alarming quite; I fear if I keep this way I'll lose my appetite."

Now Chauncey Cat was very fond of having things to eat, and one thing that he cared for most was delicate mouse meat. His mother often said to him, "My son, you ought to diet; it would be better for your health; I really wish you'd try it."

But Chauncey Cat said, "Fiddlesticks! I'm feeling very well." Until one day quite suddenly he had this poorly spell. And so when Doctor Rat came he was gravely shook his head. Then said to Chauncey, "You will have to spend a week in bed."

"I find on looking at your tongue it's coated quite a bit. I really think you're threatened with a cataplectic fit," said he; "You must be careful that you eat for quite a while; in fact, you mustn't have a thing except some catnip tea."

Said Chauncey Cat, "Ridiculous! I'll have to have some meat." "Oh, no!" said Dr. Rat, "that is the worst thing you could eat." That angered Chauncey and he said, "I know that isn't true, and just to prove that you are wrong I'll be going to eat you."

Before old Doctor Rat had time to lick or to turn pale, Young Chauncey Cat devoured him from his whiskers to his tail. I wish that I might stay right in the middle of this verse; What's gone before is bad enough; what follows is yet worse.

That night in Chauncey's neighborhood they heard a dreadful sound, And the next morning Chauncey Cat was nowhere to be found. And no one's ever heard of him since that awful night, From which I'd say it's better to control one's appetite.

An electric flashlight kept under the pillow is convenient for the mother of young children who have to be watched at night for fear they will get uncovered. When mother hasn't anything convenient for baby to sleep in, for the porch, see if you can't find short waist box or trunk you are not using. Line it with a soft comfort; put in a thick pad, a hot water bottle; lay baby in, cover up warm and "comfy," set out on porch. Be careful to fasten lid back firmly. Arrange, according to wind. In this way baby gets the fresh air and is not exposed to the wind.

Apple Chips—Cut eight pounds sweet apples into small pieces. Don't pare. Add four pounds sugar and one-fourth pound Canton ginger. Add sugar and ginger to apples and let stand twenty-four hours; add four cups out into small pieces, rejecting the seeds. Cook slowly three hours. Put into glass or stone jars and cover with paraffin.

Apple Catsup—Quarter, pare and core twelve sour apples. Put in sauce pan, cover with water and let simmer until soft (nearly all of the water should be evaporated); rub through sieve and add following to each quart of puree: one cup sugar, one teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon mustard, two teaspoons cinnamon, one level tablespoon salt, two cups vinegar, and two grated onions. Bring catsup to a boil and let simmer gently for one hour. Bottle, cork and seal.

"GETS-IT" a Sure Shot for All Corns

Use Two Drops—and They Vanish

When corns make you almost die with your boots on, when you try to walk on the edge of your shoes to get away from your corns, you're way behind time if you have not used "GETS-IT." It's

"Murder! Everybody tries to stop on my corns! I use GETS-IT and you'll have no corns to be stopped on."

the corn cure of the century, the new way, the sure, painless, simple way. It makes a fellow easy to get out after he's used toe-eating salves, corn-biting cutters, toe-bunching bandages, blood-letting razors, knives, dissection, and what-nots, when he uses just 2 drops of "GETS-IT" and see his corn vanish. The difference is divine. Just try it. You won't waste when you put on your shoes in the morning. "GETS-IT" is the corn cure of the century, the new way, the sure, painless, simple way.

"GETS-IT" is sold by druggists everywhere. See a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Educational Limitations.

A small boy asked his father the meaning of equinox, and received this answer: "What in the world do you go to school for? Don't you study mythology? An equinox is a mythical animal, half horse, half ox. The name is derived from the Latin 'equine,' horse and 'ox.' Dear me, they teach you absolutely nothing that is useful nowadays!"—Atchison Globe.

Don't Merely "Stop" a Cough

Stop the Thing that Causes It and the Cough will Stop itself

A cough is really one of our best friends. It warns us that there is inflammation or obstruction in a dangerous place. Therefore, when you get a bad cough don't proceed to dose yourself with a lot of drugs that merely "stop" the cough temporarily by deadening the cough nerves. Treat the cause—heat the inflamed membranes. Here is a home-made remedy that gets right at the cause and will make an obstinate cough vanish as quickly than you ever thought possible.

Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (30 cents worth) in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you a full pint of the most pleasant and effective cough remedy you ever used, at a cost of only 35 cents. Be sure to prepare. Full directions with Pinex.

It heals the inflamed membranes so gently and promptly that you wonder why it does it. Also loosens a dry, hoarse cough and restores the normal function of the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, rich in vitamin, and is famous the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, and the patients are discharged with healed pulmonary tuberculosis.

Medical journals seldom speak so positively about a remedial agent, yet this testimony coincides with that from many consumptives who have secured like results through the use of Eckman's Alternative.

Since calcium is a constituent of this remedy for pulmonary tuberculosis, and allied throat and bronchial diseases, its healing power may in this measure be attributed to the element in which this element is so combined with other ingredients as to be easily assimilated by the average person and it does not irritate the stomach.

Alternative contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, so it is safe to try. If your druggist is out of it, ask him to order or send direct to Eckman Laboratories, Philadelphia.

BLACK IS WHITE

By GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

COPYRIGHT, 1914, BY DODD, MEAD AND COMPANY

There had been deliberate purpose in the methods of James Brood in so far as this unhappy child was concerned. When he cast out the mother he set his hand heavily upon her future. Fearing—even feeling—the infernal certainty that this child was not his own, he planned with machiavellian instinct to hurt her to the limit of his powers and to the end of her days. He knew she would hunger for this baby boy of hers, that her heart could be broken through him, that her punishment could be made full and complete. He sequestered the child in a place where he could not be found, and went his own way, grimly certain that he was making her pay! She died when Frederic was eight years old, without having seen him again after that dreadful hour when, protesting her innocence, she had been turned out into the night and told to go whither she would but never to return to the house she had disgraced.

James Brood heard of her death when in the heart of China, and he was a haggard wreck for months thereafter. He had worshiped this beautiful Viennese. He could not wreak vengeance upon a dead woman; he could not hate a dead woman. He had always loved her. A few years after his return to New York he brought her son back to the house in lower Fifth avenue and tried, with bitterness in his soul, to endure the word "father" as it fell from lips to which the term was almost strange.

The old men, they who sat by the fire on this wind-swept night and waited for the youth of twenty-two to whom the blue missive was addressed, knew the story of James Brood and his wife Matilde and they knew that the former had no love in his heart for the youth who bore his name. Their lips were sealed. Garrulous on all other subjects, they were as silent as the grave on this. They, too, were constrained to hate the lad. He made not the slightest pretense of appreciating their position in the household; to him they were pensioners, no more, no less; to him their deeds of valor were offset by the deeds of his father; there was nothing left over for a balance on that score. He was politely considerate; he was even kindly disposed toward their vagaries and whims; he endured them because there was nothing else left for him to do. But, for all that, he despised them—justifiably so, no doubt, if one bears in mind the fact that they signed more to James Brood than did his long-neglected son.

The cold reserve that extended to the young man did not carry beyond him in relation to any other member of the household so far as James Brood was concerned. The unhappy boy, early in their acquaintance, came to realize that there was little in common between him and the man he called father. After a while the eager light died out of his own eyes and he no longer strove to encourage the intimate relations he had counted upon as a part of the recompense for so many years of separation and loneliness. It required but little effort on his part to meet his father's indifference with a coldness quite as pronounced; he had never known the meaning of filial love; he had been taught by word of mouth to love the man he had never seen, and he had learned as one learns astronomy—by calculation. He hated the two old men because his father loved them.

The patient butler, Jones, had made no less than four visits to the library since ten o'clock to awaken them and peek them out to bed. Each time he had been ordered away, once with the joint admonition to "mind his own business."

"But it is nearly midnight," protested Jones irritably, with a glance at the almost empty decanter.

"Jones," said Danbury Dawes, with great dignity and an eye that detected him to such a degree that he could not for the life of him understand why Jones was attending them in pairs, "Jones, you ought to be in bed—bed, I say—both of you. What you mean, sir, by coming in—hic—here this time of night disconcerting—"

"You infernal ingrate," broke in Mr. Riggs fiercely, "don't you dare to touch that bottle, sir. Let it alone!"

"It's time you were in bed," pronounced Jones, taking Mr. Dawes by the arm. Mr. Dawes sagged heavily in his chair and grinned triumphantly. He was a short, very fat old man.

"Take him to bed, Jones," said Mr. Riggs firmly. "He's drunk and—utterly useless at a time like this. Take him along."

"Who the dev—hic—I are you, sir?" demanded Mr. Dawes, regarding Mr. Riggs as if he had never seen him before.

"You are both drunk," said Jones, succinctly.

The heavy front door closed with a bang at that instant and the sound of footsteps came from the hall—a quick, firm tread that had decision in it.

Jones cast a furtive, nervous glance over his shoulder.

"I'm sorry to have Mr. Frederic see you like this," he said, biting his lip. "He hates it so."

The two old men made a commendable effort to stand erect, but no effort to stand alone. They linked arms and stood shoulder to shoulder.

"Show him in," said Mr. Riggs, magnificently.

"Now we'll find out what in telegram of briny deep," said Mr. Dawes, spraddling his legs a little farther apart in order to declare a stance front.

"It's worth waiting up for," said Mr. Riggs.

"Absolutely," said his staunch friend, Frederic Brood, who appeared in the door, stopping short just inside the heavy curtains. There was a momentary picture, such as a stage director would have arranged. He was still wearing his silk hat and top-coat, and one glove had been halted in the process of removal. Young Brood stared at the group of three, a frank stare of amazement. A crooked smile came to his lips.

"Somewhat later than usual, I see," he said, and the glove came off with a jerk. "What's the matter, Jones? Rebellious?"

"No, sir. It's the wireless, sir."

"Wireless?"

"Briny deep," said Mr. Dawes, vaguely pointing.

"Oh," said young Brood, crossing slowly to the table. He picked up the envelope and looked at the inscription. "Oh," said he again, in quite a different tone on seeing that it was addressed to him. "From father, I dare say," he went on, a fine line appearing between his eyebrows.

The old men leaned forward, fixing their blue eyes upon the missive.

"Let's hear the worst, Freddy," said Mr. Riggs.

The young man ran his finger under the flap and deliberately drew out the message. There ensued another picture. As he read his eyes widened and then contracted; his firm young jaw became set and rigid. Suddenly a short, bitter exclamation fell from his lips and the paper crumpled in his hand. Without another word, he strode to the fireplace and tossed it upon the coals. It flared for a second and was waited upon the chimney, a charred, feathery thing.

Without deigning to notice the two old men who had sat up half the night to learn the contents of that wonderful thing from the sea, he whirled on his heel and left the room. One might have noticed that his lips were drawn in a mirthless, sardonic smile, and that his eyes were angry.

"Oh, Lord!" sighed Danbury Dawes, blinking, and was on the point of sitting down abruptly. The arm of Jones prevented.

"I never was so insulted in my—" began Joseph Riggs, feebly.

"Steady, gentlemen," said Jones, "Lean on me, please."

CHAPTER II.

Various Ways of Receiving a Blow.

James Brood's home was a remarkable one. That portion of the house which might be described as "public" in order to distinguish it from other parts where privacy was enforced, was not unlike any of the finer, furnished, old-fashioned places in the lower part of the city, where there are still traces left of the Knickerbockers and their times. This was not the home of men who had been merely rich; it was not wealth alone that stood behind these stately investments.

At the top of the house were the rooms which no one entered except by the gracious will of the master. Here James Brood had stored the quaint, priceless treasures of his own peculiar fancy—exquisite, curious things from the mystic East, things that are not to be bought and sold but come only to the hand of him who searches in lands where peril is the price.

Worlds separated the upper and lower regions of that fine old house; a single step took one from the sedate Occident into the very heart of the Orient; a narrow threshold was the line between the rugged West and the soft, languorous, seductive East. In this part of the house, James Brood, when at home for one of his brief stays, spent many of his hours in seclusion, shut off from the rest of the establishment as completely as if he were the inhabitant of another world.

Attended by his Hindu servant, a silent man named Ranjab, and on occasions, by his secretary, he saw but little of the remaining members of his rather extensive household. For several years he had been engaged in the task of writing his memoirs—so called—in so far as they related to his experiences and researches of the past twenty years.

His secretary and amanuensis was Lydia Desmond, the nineteen-year-old daughter of his one-time companion and friend, the late John Desmond, whose death occurred when the girl was barely ten years of age.

Brood, on hearing of the man's death, immediately made inquiries concerning the condition in which he had left his wife and child, with the result that Mrs. Desmond was installed as housekeeper in the New York house and the daughter given every advantage in the way of education. Desmond had left nothing in the shape of riches except undiminished love for his wife and a diary kept during those perilous days before he met and married her. This diary was being incorporated in the history of James Brood's adventures, by consent of the widow, and was to speak for Brood in words he could not with modesty utter for himself. In these pages John Desmond was to tell his own story, in his own way, for Brood's love for his friend was broad enough even to admit of that. He was to share his life in retrospect with Desmond and the two old men as he had shared it with them in reality.

Lydia's room, adjoining her mother's, was on the third floor at the foot of the small stairway leading up to the proscribed retreat at the top of the house. There was a small sitting-room off the two bed chambers, given over entirely to Mrs. Desmond and her daughter. In this little room, Frederic Brood spent many a quiet, happy hour. The Desmonds, mother and daughter, understood and pitied the lonely boy who came to the big house soon after they were themselves installed. His heart, which had many sores, expanded and glowed in the warmth of their kindness and affection; the plague of unfriendliness that was his by absorption gave way before this unexpected kindness, not immediately, it is true, but completely in the end.

By nature he was slow to respond to the advances of others; his life had been such that avarice accounted for all that he received from others in the shape of respect and consideration. He was prone to discount a friendly attitude for the simple reason that in his experience all friendships were marred by the fact that their sincerity rested entirely upon the generosity of the man who paid for them—his father. No one had loved him for himself; no one had given him an unselfish thought in all the years of his boyhood.

At first he held himself aloof from the Desmonds; he was slow to surrender. He suspected them of the same motives that had been the basis of all previous attachments. When at last he realized that they were not like the others, his cup of joy, long an empty vessel, was filled to the brim and his happiness was without bounds. They were amazed by the transformation. The rather sullen, unapproachable lad had become at once so friendly, so dependent, that had they not been acquainted with the causes behind the old state of reticence, his very joy might have made a nuisance of him. He followed Mrs. Desmond about in every much the same spirit that inspires a hungry dog; he watched her with eager, half-famished eyes; he was on her heels four-fifths of the time. As for Lydia, pretty little Lydia, he adored her. His heart began for the first time to sing with the joy of youth, and the sensation was a novel one. It had seemed to him that he could never be anything but an old man.

It was his custom, on coming home for the night, no matter what the hour may have been, to pause before Lydia's door on the way to his own room

At the other end of the long hall. Usually, however, he was at home long before her bedtime, and they spent the evenings together. That she was his father's secretary was of no moment. To him she was Lydia—his Lydia.

For the past three months or more he had been privileged to hold her close in his arms and to kiss her good-night at parting! They were lovers now. The slow fuse of passion had reached its end and the flame was alive and shining with a radiance that enveloped both of them.

On this night, however, he passed her door without knocking. His dark, handsome face was flushed, and his teeth were set in sullen anger. With his hand on the knob of his own door, he suddenly remembered that he had failed Lydia for the first time, and stopped. A pang of shame shot through him. For a moment he hesitated and then started guiltily toward the forgotten door. Even as he raised his hand to sound the loving signal, the door was opened and Lydia, fully dressed, confronted him. For a moment they regarded each other in silence, she intently, he with astonishment not quite free from confusion.

"I'm—I'm sorry, dearest—" he began, his first desire being to account for his oversight.

Dinner Stories

A stout woman was always in the habit of buying two seats when she went to the theater, in order that she could have plenty of room. The other afternoon she went to a matinee and, passing inside, handed the two tickets to the attendant.

"Where is the party who is going to use the other ticket?" he asked.

"I'm going to occupy both seats myself," explained the woman.

"I'd like to see you do it," said the attendant, looking closely at the tickets. "The seats are on opposite sides of the aisle."

When Thomas R. Marshall, the vice president, was governor of Indiana, the city authorities of Indianapolis opened up a grand bathhouse and swimming pool. The first thing the men in charge did was to send the governor a card entitling him to free admission to the establishment.

A few days after receiving the first pass he found a second in his mail.

Thereupon he dictated the following letter: "Gentlemen:—Your first pass I received as a courtesy. Your second I regard as a suggestion. If you send

WISCONSIN IS RID OF CATTLE PLAGUE

Strict Measures Adopted by State and Federal Authorities Has Checked Foot and Mouth Disease

By promptly quarantining and slaughtering all infected animals about as fast as discovered, Wisconsin apparently has rid herself of foot and mouth disease.

The federal government is paying one half of the appraised value of animals slaughtered in Wisconsin, and it is expected that the legislature will make an appropriation to pay the remaining half.

The following were steps in the fight:

Nov. 3, 1914.—Disease first reported at Evansville, Rock county.

Nov. 8, 1914.—The state veterinarian issues quarantine order, twelve counties quarantined by sanitary officials. Thirty-six herds infected.

Feb. 12, 1915.—Latest outbreak reported in La Poudre county.

One thousand seven hundred and sixty-four head of sheep, exposed to disease, slaughtered.

One thousand seven hundred and eighty-six head of swine, exposed to disease, slaughtered.

No Case Now in Wisconsin.

Not a single case of the disease is now in the state, and State Veterinarian Eliason has just made this statement: "With the placing of Lincoln, Brown, Langlade, Jefferson, Walworth, Kaukauna and Racine counties in the quarantine zone with the prospect of an early modification of Rock county as well as a part of Dodge and Dane counties, the situation in Wisconsin will soon be in a normal condition."

Nevertheless no chance of reinfection is being overlooked, for Dr. Eliason reports that "a large force of men are inspecting and watching the transportation of stock between Illinois and Wisconsin and this will be kept up until the premises have been disinfected in Stephenson and Joe Davies counties in Illinois. Shipments of feeders into this state from St. Paul are now made at owner's risk. The state will not assume the responsibility for any of this class of stock becoming diseased."

Fred Bartsch of Kaukauna has been appointed storekeeper at the South Janesville shops to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Frank L. Hennsen, who was promoted to chief clerk in the master mechanic's office at Chicago. Bartsch's appointment came through the general storekeeper.

An edict, "To All Concerned," that the practice of throwing snowballs is a very dangerous practice and must be discontinued at once, is the first declaration of Leo Mutaugh, newly appointed chairman of the local safety committee. The edict has been bulletined at the round house.

Another message of interest to shopmen is also on the board. This is one of appreciation thanks from Frank L. Hennsen for the beautiful gold watch and chain the South Janesville men presented him with on Saturday evening. Frank says that his earnest hopes are that he will be able to reciprocate at any time.

MARY PICKFORD IN "CINDERELLA"

Famous Photoplay Actress Seen in
The Character of the Cinder Girl.

Full of her usual charm and sweetness, Mary Pickford, the screen's most popular actress, was presented to audiences yesterday at the Apollo in a novel and beautiful film version of the age-old story, "Cinderella," a Famous Players-Lasker production in four parts. This tender story, which gives screen immortality to a tale already inscribed on the hearts of all the children of all time, again proves that Mary Pickford is unrivaled in versatility and artistic charm as an impersonator of screen characterizations.

As a character-study, the opportunities of "Cinderella" are unrivaled, and in the role of the pretty but despised cinder-girl, Mary Pickford finds occasion for one of the tenderest and most artistic impersonations of her phenomenally triumphant career.

"The Pit" Tonight.
Two famous stars will be seen at the Apollo tonight in a popular play, "The Pit." The play is a book and a play. It was published at an opportune time. Eleven or twelve years ago corners in staple products were often attempted, and sometimes were successful to an extent, if not entirely so.

"The Pit" therefore, in motion picture form, is assured of keen and widespread attention. Its success is certain simply on its historical popularity. Wilton Lackaye plays in the film the part that he undertook in the original play, that of Curtis Javlin ("Joe Letter"), who tried to corner wheat and failed to find, however entirely on his desert, that the lovely young wife he had neglected in the frenzied pursuit of the dollar remained to solace and sustain him in his trials and help him start a new life.

Gail Kane is the wife in this feature, which in its "wheat pit" scene at the Chicago Board of Trade contains one of the most dramatic and largest number ever shown in a motion picture interior scene.

"The Million," on Wednesday.
On Wednesday at the Apollo the Famous Players-Lasker Co. presents Edward G. Robinson in a four-part photoplay-adaptation of Henry W. Savages' recent sensational success, "The Million," which has won distinction of possessing more laughter and wholesome fun than any comedy of recent years. The continuous fourth proceeds equally from the action, caricatures and situations of one of the most novel and ingenious plots ever presented on the stage or screen. If the old philosophers are right, and "laughter is the best medicine," then "The Million" is well named indeed.

The subject also presents one of the most remarkable examples of character acting supplied in many years, in the impersonation of Le Baron, the crook, by Edward G. Robinson. In the course of the story he is called upon to portray no less than six entirely distinct characters. With the assumption of each new persona, Edward G. Robinson not only presents a wholly varied physical appearance, but lends to each of the six roles a totally distinct personality—first, as the crook, who is the police baying at his heels; then, as like Damskinski, the second-hand clothing dealer of the Bowery, and finally, in rapid succession, as the duplicate of the singer, Donatelli, in which he convinces Donatelli that he is seeing things; as a reporter, changing from the news of Damskinski to a dapper newspaperman, and finally as the blonde cabaret dancer.

German War Pictures Coming.
Irvin C. Cobb was right. "Someone had thought of everything." And that is the impression you gain when watching the "German War Pictures," which will be shown at the Myers Theatre, March 15 and 16, matinee and evening. This is a series of pictures showing the German army in the various towns, where the fighting took place. They are the first films, which show the eastern theatre of war, the happenings in Russian Poland, Galicia and East Prussia. And they illustrate what you have doubtless pictured in your mind's eye, especially if you have followed Mr. Cobb's entertaining chatter in the Saturday Evening Post.

The German general staff, by whose permission the films were taken, are kept as historic pieces of the future generation. The films show the 42 centimeter guns in action before Antwerp, the burning oil tanks in Russian Poland, the capture of the field is shown with brutal realism and sombre tragedy. Baron Edmund von Rakowicz, of the 4th Elite Regiment of Berlin, and one of the Kaiser's Honorary Guards, will certify and describe in detail the many wonderful scenes.
